

STORYLAND

White Ginger and Red Ginger

Author: Vanda Yulianti
Illustrator: Aira Rumi

ASTA

The Kingdom of Zingiberas was a Ginger Kingdom ruled by King Zingiber.

The people of Zingiberas held deep affection for King Zingiber because he was renowned for his wisdom in leadership.

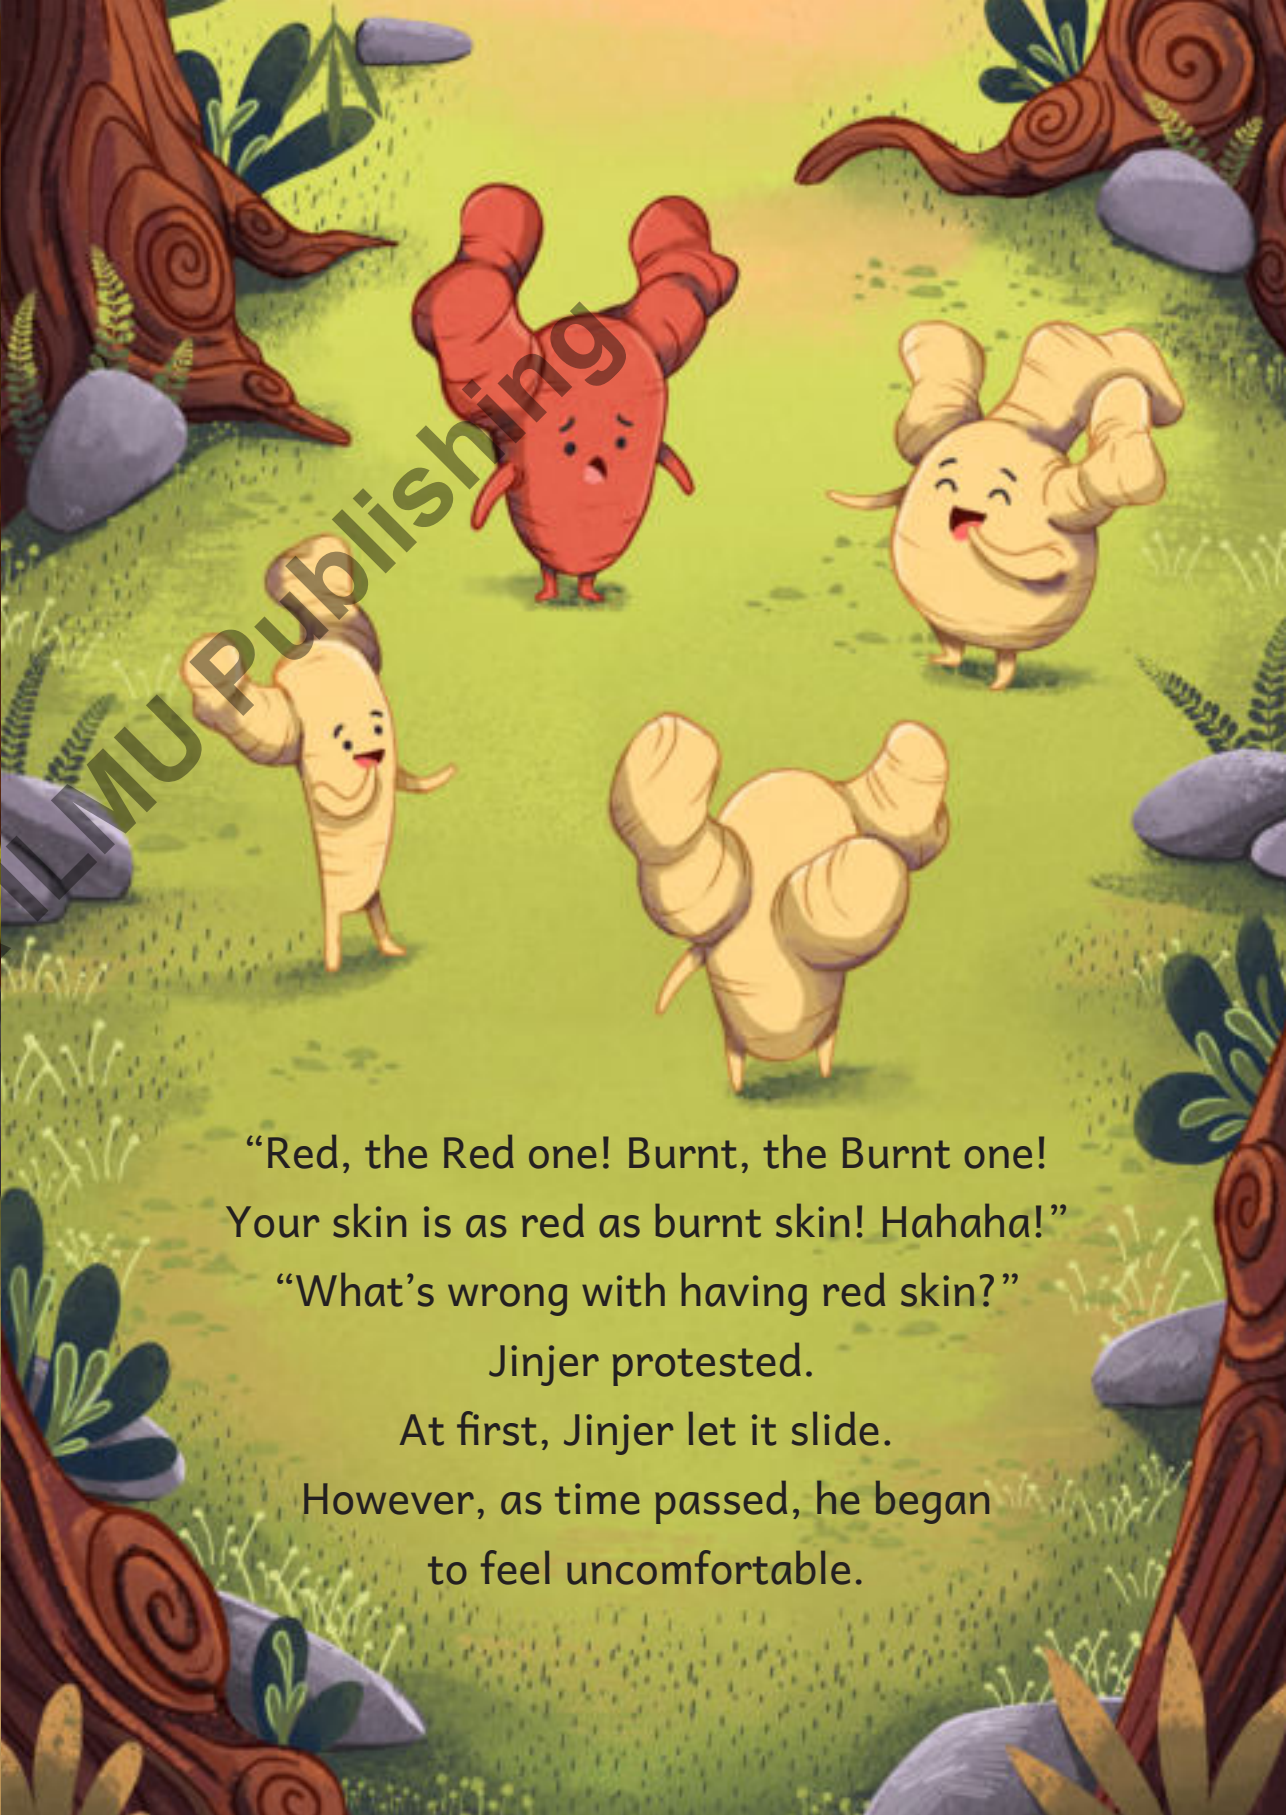

The people of White Ginger Village and Red Ginger Village always lived harmoniously under King Zingiber's rule.

One day, Jinjer, a child of Red Ginger Village, came home crying. It turned out that the children from White Ginger Village had mocked the color of his skin.

“Red, the Red one! Burnt, the Burnt one! Your skin is as red as burnt skin! Hahaha!”

“What’s wrong with having red skin?”

Jinjer protested.

At first, Jinjer let it slide.

However, as time passed, he began to feel uncomfortable.

“I need to put a stop to this,”
Jinjer said to his friend, Jinjiberi.

“Hmmm, who can help us with this?” Jinjiberi was also saddened.

“Ah! We have King Zingiber, who is wise! I will write a letter to the King,” Jinjer exclaimed enthusiastically.
Not long after, Jinjer’s letter reached the hands of the King.