“Prang!!!”

“Oh no, this is bad!”

Ali panicked as he looked at the shards of the plate on the floor.

He remembered his mother's instructions.
He was supposed to wash the dishes and glasses after his friends left, but Ali was too busy playing games.

As a result, in his haste and half-running,
Ali accidentally knocked a plate
on the table.
Ali looked at the clock on the wall.

"If I clean up now, I'll definitely be late for my lessons. If I don't clean it up, someone might step on the broken glass. Oh, no!"

Ali scratched his non-itchy head. He then carefully stepped away from the broken plate shards.

"Oh, I need to call Dio," Ali remembered. He took the telephone and dialed the number.
